2 ACCIDENTS INVESTIGATED IN 10 MINUTES

State police of the Gettysburg substation were called to investigate two accidents several miles apart, but within ten minutes of each other, Tuesday afternoon.

At 3:35 o'clock an automobile operated by Roy E. Matthias, 17, of Hanover, skidded broadside into a truck owned by George Adams, Hanover, and driven by Gerald W. Yost, 19, also of Hanover, on a road running south from New Oxford to the Hanover-Carlisle pike.

Police said Matthias was driving south. He saw the truck coming toward him, and drove to the right. The roadway was wet and his car struck the front of the truck, causing $800 damage to the car and $400 to the truck.

Fractured Skull
Matthias was taken in an ambulance to the Hanover hospital. Police said he suffered a possible fracture of the skull, fractured right arm and body bruises.

Skidding on the wet roadway was given as the cause of the other accident. An automobile operated by Robert J. Sturski, 32, Baltimore, was proceeding south a mile and a half below Littlestown at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday, skidded, struck and upset a light truck operated by Paul C. Koonz, 33, of 432 South Queen street, Littlestown, which was traveling toward Littlestown.

Damage to each vehicle was estimated at $200. No one was injured.

GUARD COMPANY ADDS FOUR MEN

Troop A, 104th Mechanized Reconnaissance Squadron, the local National Guard unit, Tuesday night added four men to its roster, bringing the total strength to two officers and 79 enlisted men.

The additional men brought to six the number secured in the current recruiting drive scheduled to end November 19. The troop hopes by that date to have reached its full authorized strength of six officers and 121 men.

Added Tuesday night to the roster were Cpl. Thomas A. Carr, 255 Chambersburg street, a veteran of World War II; Pvt. Robert M. Sorensen, Gettysburg R. 2, former member of the New Jersey National Guard; Ret. William D. Boyd, Gettysburg R. 1, and Lewis B. Spain, Gettysburg R. D., who transferred to the local troop from Battery C, 899th AA, of Lancaster.

Cites Advantages

Plans to place posters throughout the county to encourage more enlistments in the guard were outlined Tuesday.

Captain William G. Weaver, commanding officer of the unit, pointed out that the lowest pay of a National Guard member, that of a recruit, is $2.50 per two-hour drill and noted that the recruits automatically move into the private rating at the end of several months and thus receive an automatic raise in pay.

In addition, he added, members of the guard get longevity pay, as well as retirement pay after 20 years in the guard or other armed forces. Time served in the armed forces previously counts toward retirement pay for the guardsmen, Weaver said.

Woman Motorist Injured In Mishap

Miss Merle Coulson, 20, Biglerville, was treated at the Warner hospital for multiple lacerations of the right forearm and contusions of the nose received when the car she was operating slid into a pole Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Miss Coulson was driving south on the Mummass road leading from the Peace Light inn. She applied the brakes of her car when she saw the railroad blinker lights warning of the approach of a train. Her car slid into the pole on which the lights were mounted.

FEDERAL PAY BILL AFFECTS PERSONS HERE

A number of Adams countians are scheduled to get pay increases as a result of bills now before congress.

Countians in the armed forces will get pay hikes as a result of an armed services pay increase bill which previously passed the Senate, and then was passed by the House Tuesday. The bill, which will cost the nation approximately $300,000,000 a year, will up the salaries of nearly everyone in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. It was also believed that the pay raise would increase the pay of members of the National Guard and Army Reserve in Adams county. The National Guard and Reservists are granted a full day's pay for each training session they attend, and the pay is one day's pay in the rank they hold, which is believed to mean that the new pay scale for the armed forces will also apply to the guardsmen and reservists.

PO Employees May Get Raise
Post office employees, including the 21 in Gettysburg, are scheduled to get raises if the Senate agrees with the bill passed by the House Tuesday.

The House bill concerning post office raises passed 332 to 2, and it is expected that the Senate will also pass the bill. It provides for a flat boost of $150 a year for nearly all employees, and in addition provides for upgrading of employees in the post office, which would give them another increase in salary. The bill, if passed in its present form, will cost the nation about $180,000,000 a year. The up-grading scheduled by the bill is the wiping out of the two lowest classifications of postal workers, thus increasing their pay by $100 to $300 and making the starting minimum salary $2,900 a year for regular carriers. Postmasters will get a five percent increase on their present earnings, according to the bill.

Col. Augustus Post, Organizer Of First Glidden Tour, Keeps Record Intact On '49 Jaunt

Col. Augustus Post of New York city, pioneer motorist, aviator and balloonist, as well as author and organizer of the first Glidden tour in 1904 from New York to St. Louis, was a passenger on the 1949 Glidden tour which started from Gettysburg Sunday morning.

Col. Post, now 76, with the vigor and personality of a much younger person, rode in the 1911 White of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore B. Brooks of Wayne, Pa. He wore the same checked cap and the badge which he wore on the first Glidden tour. He has not missed one tour since 1904, and hopes to continue to take part for many more years.

The 1949 Glidden tour is "one of the best yet," Col. Post said, and then added this note:

"If the automobile drivers of today were like those in the first Glidden tour, and the succeeding ones, there would never be an accident on the highways."

Churchill Asks Parliament To Kick Out Attlee Government

London, Sept. 28 (AP) — Winston Churchill called on parliament today to kick out Prime Minister Attlee's labor government and make way for another which he said could set the British pound free to find its own level in world markets.

The conservative leader, in a slashing attack, denounced the labor government as having brought Britain "to the verge of national and international bankruptcy."

His address opened the conservative attack in the three-day debate in parliament on Britain's devaluation policy.

Churchill said even if the labor government was forced to devalue the pound from $4.03 to $2.80, "it cannot be a good thing and we have suffered a serious disaster." Under the present strict controls, the conservative leader declared, it will prove a "new drain upon our latent strength and remaining motive power."

Churchill said Britain must:

1. Cut taxes to increase the incentive to work, especially among wage earners direct.
2. Ease up on "needless and vexatious controls and interference with the flexibility of private enterprise."
3. Elect a government which could command national and international confidence.

Those men knew their cars and they drove for the pleasure of driving, not just to get somewhere sitting down. They painted their cars and they polished them, and they repaired them and improved them. They knew their cars as well as themselves and they loved their cars better than themselves."

"Like First Tour"
He praised the current Glidden tour for holding so much of the spirit of the older tours, "so much so that one has the feeling that he is back on the first tour," he said. "The spirit of friendliness, of love of fine automobiles, of knowledge and skill in driving, are all here today just as they were in 1904."

Col. Post was chairman of touring and highways of the American Automobile association when he organized the first Glidden tour.

"Charles J. Glidden of Boston was the owner of a Napier, and had driven widely throughout much of the United States, and in Europe and elsewhere," Col. Post recalled here Saturday.

The Birth Of The Glidden Tours
"I asked him to act as one of the judges on the Mt. Washington hill climb in New Hampshire, and it was at breakfast on the top of Mt. Washington that I suggested to Mr. Glidden: 'The automobile of tomorrow should be a touring auto, not just a hill-climbing jack rabbit.'"

Out of this breakfast conversation was born the first Glidden tour of 1904, destined to become a test of roadability, and an incentive to the construction of adequate motoring highways.

First Tour To St. Louis
Through it and largely because of it, the first meeting of governors and highway commissioners of several states was held, which resulted in the designation of the first cross-country and inter-state highway routes.

Police Join Search For Missing Woman

State police of the Gettysburg substation have been asked to aid in a search for Mrs. Ann Hensel, 29, of Pittsburgh, who left that city Saturday evening for Gettysburg and failed to arrive here, according to her husband, Richard Hensel, Biglerville R. 1.

Police said Hensel has been working in an Adams county canning factory, and his wife was to have joined him here. When she failed to arrive, he communicated with relatives in Pittsburgh, who told him she had left there for Gettysburg. She is described as five feet, six inches in height, weight about 120 pounds, blue eyes and black hair, and fair complexion.

START PLANS ON 'SPOOK' PARADE

A number of organizational heads in the borough were being reminded today that it won't be long until the witches jet through the air on rocket brooms, ghosts float by in the Glidden tour and people with movable outbuildings will check their insurance and their blood pressure.

Letters reminding that Halloween will soon be here were being sent to officials of the local Moose, Elks, Eagles, fire company, Soroptimists, American Legion posts, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lions, Rotary and the Recreation association noting that they sponsored last year's Halloween parade in the borough and asking if they would like to do it again.

October 13 was set as the date for representatives of organizations to gather at the Recreation center under the First National bank to complete plans.

Members of the committee last year, who are serving until the new committee members are appointed by the clubs, expressed the hope to enter that a number of floats may be entered in the parade. It was pointed out that on July 4 a large number of excellent floats were to be seen—and that Halloween generally provides much in the way of inspiration, particularly in the line of the bizarre and unusual.

BATTLEFIELD IS CALLED TOWN'S BIGGEST ASSET

Gettysburg's greatest asset, Col. William G. Weaver, guest speaker at the first fall dinner meeting of the Soroptimist club Tuesday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg, said, is the battlefield.

"Gettysburg," he said, "is the right size for proper community spirit and is beautifully situated, in the center of mountains and orchards, and is conveniently located in relation to all the principal cities of the Middle Atlantic states and seaboard."

"Lincoln's Gettysburg address, in addition to the battle, made Gettysburg famous," Col. Weaver said. "Gettysburgians, besides profiting directly or indirectly from the tourist business, should realize the advantages of meeting and seeing the thousands of tourists who come here every year."

Cites Community Assets
Col. Weaver cited the many cultural advantages of Gettysburg, its college and seminary, and the many fine speakers who appear here each year. He paid tribute to the school systems, and said that the new consolidation program set up in the county is being used as a model throughout the state.

LONELY HEARTS MURDER TRIAL MAY END TODAY

Dover, Del., Sept. 28 (AP)—The Lonely Hearts murder trial of Mrs. Inez Brennan, 46, and her 16-year-old son, Robert, may be handed to a jury of 10 men and two women today.

Robert is charged with murder in the shotgun slaying of Wade N. Woodbridge, 67-year-old Virginian whom his mother met through Lonely Hearts correspondence. Mrs. Brennan is on trial as an accomplice.

The youth's statement that he killed Woodbridge on his mother's order will be allowed to go to the jury as a confession made voluntarily to police.

Chief Justice Charles L. Richards ruled yesterday two confessions signed by Robert during the two days immediately following his arrest at the Brennan farm last April were to be considered by the jury.

Rejects Two Confessions
Justice Richards, however, ruled out two confessions obtained later by police. They were barred on the ground the state had not followed a recent U. S. Supreme court ruling that a defendant be given a hearing and the right of counsel within a reasonable time after his arrest.

Mrs. Dolly Dean, 26-year-old housekeeper in the Brennan home at the time of the slaying, returned to the stand yesterday to deny the role which Robert said she played—instigator of his fight with Woodbridge which ended in the Virginian's death.

The state contends Robert killed Woodbridge on October 10, 1948, for his money, buried the body in a pigpen, later burned the remains and scattered the ashes on a Dover city dump.

Robert testified he shot Woodbridge during a fight after Mrs. Dean complained the Virginian had gotten "fresh" with her.

Loop Withdrawal By E.B. Probed

No decision was reached by the District PIAA 3 committee on the disposition of the protest filed by the Little Seven conference team members against East Berlin high, one of its chartered members, during a meeting of the committee at Steelton.

The Little Seven conference members said East Berlin high had not notified the conference of its official withdrawal and that the unofficial withdrawal announcement came late.

East Berlin was unable to field a team this season because of "lack of interest on the part of the boys," E. M. Gruver, in a letter to the PIAA committee, said he would not jeopardize the health of a few boys who would have to play the game without substitution.

The PIAA committee said it would seek "further information about the situation" before handing down a decision. The conference was organized in 1947.

Present members include Dallastown, Stewartstown, York Springs, Washington township, New Freedom and Littlestown.

Donald S. Weikert Named Noble Grand

Snyder, representative to the Philadelphia orphan home; George Coshun, custodian; David A. Tawney, captain of the degree staff and William E. Tip-ton, pianist.

The new officers will be installed at the next meeting of the lodge.

STOCK DEMAND BRISK

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Demand for stocks suddenly flared up in mid-morning today as reports circulated in Wall Street that steel negotiators were getting closer together on a new contract. A gust of buying swept through the exchange and lifted key issues a few cents to a top of around $2 a share. Steels and motors figured prominently in the advance.

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—A nationwide strike of railway firemen and engineers is planned for next month to protest the rejection of a union demand for an extra fireman on diesel engines. David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, disclosed the plans last night.

NATIONS AGREE ON NEED FOR ATOM CONTROL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Russia's demand for international control of the atom bomb (which she now claims to possess, and quite likely does), finds complete agreement among the western powers—providing an acceptable method of control can be devised.

However, there's nothing new in that. It's a statement which could have been made at any time since June of 1946 when the subject first came before the United Nations in a big way. Both sides call for control, but the trouble has been that the Soviet and the west have been as far apart as the Poles on what the controls should be.

Moscow calls for the absolute prohibition of atomic weapons. Well and good—and three cheers by all concerned. However, the Russians want the destruction of present atomic stockpiles before any convention is signed. They also insist on the retention of the veto in matters affecting atomic control, and this veto power could virtually nullify the terms of an agreement.

Inspection An Issue
One of the hottest points of controversy is Moscow's insistence that each nation—rather than a United Nations commission—should do its own inspections to make sure that there are no violations.

Well, I ask you! This old world of ours would indeed be a paradise if all nations could be trusted to check on themselves. However, human nature still is too tricky for that. You could trust it with hand-grenades but in the matter of atomic bombs, "nyet," which is Russian for the veto.

So the way things stand there can be no agreement unless Moscow retreats from qualifications which the United States and its western allies feel not only would nullify its value but would create an extremely dangerous international situation. Pending the happy day of compromise, America is losing no time in tightening up the military, economic and political unity of the western world in view of the disclosure that Russia has succeeded in making an atomic weapon.

Won't Junk Bombs
Far from making a headlong rush to destroy her stock of atomic bombs, America is going ahead to maintain her advantage over the Soviet Union in atomic weapons. The partnership with Canada and Britain in atomic development is to be strengthened.

These moves are precautionary, however. Nobody is looking for war now. The western nations are anxious for atomic control and there even is speculation that President Truman might send a message direct to Stalin urging a fresh attempt through the United Nations to solve world problems, including atomic control.

So far as the western world is concerned, it is taking in stride the disclosure that Russia has developed an atomic weapon. That's as should be, for the consensus of military and governmental folk is that there is no cause for panic.

Four Pa. Breeders Win Poultry Honors

Harrisburg, Sept. 28 (AP)—Only four keystone state breeders won high places as the Babcock poultry farms of Ithaca, N. Y., took all top honors except one in the 1948-49 Pennsylvania official egg laying contest.

The state Agriculture Department reported that Babcock single comb white leghorn pens won first, second, third and fourth places among high pens for the year. Individual birds also took second, third and fourth places in the trapnest performance.

Highest Pennsylvania entry was Ralph Leppo, of Hanover, who took eighth and ninth place for individual birds. Others were Burr's poultry farm, of Tunkhannock, 14th with a pen of leghorns; Phillip Maddux, Pipersville, produced 1,977 eggs and 2,127.45 points, and Thomas poultry farm, of Saltillo, 2,739 eggs and 2,802.35 points.

The contest's top pen accounted for 3,815 eggs and 4,059.7 points in 51 weeks. The New York entry also had 20 hens among the 48 that produced 300 or more points in the contest. A point is given for each two-ounce egg, with fractional points added or subtracted for over or under that weight.

There were 99 pens in the contest, 34 entered by Pennsylvania breeders.

Tells Court His Theory On Driving

An ingenious truck driver, appealing his prosecution for speeding on the Pennsylvania turnpike, admitted on the witness stand in York Tuesday that his truck's speedometer was broken at the time of his arrest, but observed that the legal speed limit, after all, means very little at times.

"It isn't always the speed limit you're allowed to drive," said Charles L. Krall, East Berlin, R. 1. He pointed out that under adverse weather conditions no sane driver would think of matching the legal speed limit. A veteran of 23 years trucking, Krall went on to give the court, prosecution and observers, an idea of his theory of good driving practice.

"I watch the road when I drive, because you never know what the other fellow is going to do," Krall said. He contemplated sadly for a moment the poor driving habits of the "other fellow."

"This was the first trip I made in a long time I didn't see a wreck." State Trooper Charles A. Pentz had testified that he stopped Krall for speeding on the turnpike in Bedford county, April 14. Pentz said Krall was exceeding the legal limit. Krall said he was "driving along, minding my own business."

Judge Walter I. Anderson deferred his decision on Krall's appeal.

PIRATES SHAVE CARDS' MARGIN WITH 6-4 WIN

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The St. Louis Cardinals' violation of the unwritten baseball rule "let sleeping dogs lie" may cost them the National League pennant.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, a docile sixth place club when Ralph Kiner isn't on the prowl, act like a pack of roaring lions when they clash with the swifties from St. Louis—chiefly because of an early-season feud.

Pittsburgh chopped the Cards' advantage over Brooklyn to one game last night, scoring a 6-4 triumph over their despised rivals before 27,283 fans under the lights at Forbes field. The Dodgers were idle.

While the Pirates jolted the Cards, the Boston Red Sox downed their "cousins," the Washington Senators, 6-4, to protect their one game American League lead over the New York Yankees. The Yanks defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-1, in the afternoon.

The Pirates' long war with the Cards began early in the season when Ken Johnson, wild young Cardinal lefthander, bearded shortstop Stan Rojek. The Pirates charged the Card catcher Joe Garagiola had deliberately called for the bean ball.

Garagiola and Card Manager Eddie Dyer denied the accusation but the Pirates were firm in their conviction.

The vendetta flamed anew in the Pirates' last visit to St. Louis. Enos Slaughter of the Cards spiked Pirate second baseman Danny Murtagh and the Pirates vowed to take care of the Red Birds when they came to Pittsburgh.

Grand Slam Homer
This they did in no uncertain manner. The Pirates belted Red Munger, righthanded ace of the Cards, for five runs in the second inning to clinch the game last night.

Rookie outfielder Tom Saffell dropped Munger through the trap door with a grand slam home run to clinch the rally. The runs will not blemish Munger's earned run average as an error by Red Schoendienst made all of the runs unearned. The Pirates now have beaten the Cards 11 times in 21 games.

Joe Dobson, with help from Walt Masterson, pitched the rampaging Red Sox to victory over Washington's woeful Senators. The victory was Boston's 11th straight and its 14th consecutive win over Washington.

The Sox socked Paul Calvert for six runs in the first six innings while Dobson limited the Senators to one hit over the same span. Boston drove Calvert out with a four run blast in the sixth, which Dobson capped with a run-producing single.

Washington loaded the bases against Dobson in the seventh with none out but managed to score only once. The Senators sent Curly Cio to the showers in the following inning, scoring three runs before Masterson rushed in, threw a double play ball to Roberto Ortiz, and got Eddie Robinson to fly out.

Raschi Beats A's
Vic Raschi hung up his 20th victory in pitching the Yanks to victory over Philadelphia.

The Yanks jumped on Dick Fowler for all of their runs in the third inning. Fowler forced the first one home by walking Tommy Henrich with the bases loaded. Yogi Berra followed with a two-run single to chase Fowler in favor of Bobby Shantz.

In the only other games yesterday, the Cleveland Indians shaded the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, on Joe Gordon's ninth inning single. The Cincinnati Reds edged the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, scoring two runs in the ninth. Virgil Stallcup's fourth hit scored Danny Litwhiler with the payoff run.

DELONE WHIPS CANNER SCRUBS
The Biglerville high school jayvees took a 32-0 lacing from the Delone Catholic reserves in a game played Tuesday night on the McSherrytown football field.

Delone scored twice in the first period and added single touchdowns in each of the final periods to win handily. The two extra points came on running plays.

Harvard's Houston Is Lineman Of Week

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—Harvard took a 44-0 drubbing from Stanford on the Pacific coast last Saturday, but nevertheless came up with the football lineman of the week in 23-year-old Howard Houston.

In the first Associated Press poll of the grid season the 200-pound senior tackle from Haverhill, Mass., today was named the top lineman of 38 nominations.

Houston, who served three years in the Army Air Corps from 1943 to 1946 and who was one of the east's top heavyweight collegiate wrestlers last year, earned an unusual tribute from Marchie Schwartz, Stanford coach.

"Houston undoubtedly was an all-American against us," Schwartz told San Francisco football writers. "This is something I seldom do. I intend to write Houston a personal letter congratulating him on his fine play. He made 90 per cent of the tackles on defense and was hard to block out."

CARDS ARE NOT "SURE THINGS"

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28 (AP)—Anybody who thinks the National League pennant race is over ought to take a look at the St. Louis Cardinals.

The league leaders are playing anything but championship baseball—certainly not like the 6-1 favorites they were made by the odds-makers only 24 hours ago.

True, they still lead the Brooklyn Dodgers by a full game with only four to go, but no longer are they the sure things they appeared a day or two ago.

Manager Billy Meyer of Pittsburgh, whose sixth-placers whipped the Redbirds last night, 6-4, only said what nearly all of the 27,283 customers thought when he remarked after the game:

"The Pirates didn't win it. The Cards threw it away. The Cards looked terrible tonight but I still think they'll win the pennant. I look for the Dodgers to drop one in Boston and one in Philadelphia, while the Cardinals should sweep their series with Chicago."

What Manager Eddie Dyer of the Red Birds said to his disheartened athletes, nobody will probably ever know for the shocked skipper locked the door on newspapermen and refused to talk to anyone.

HACK WILSON'S GRAVE MARKED

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 28 (AP)

—Hack Wilson's old baseball friends gathered in a corner of a graveyard here yesterday and unveiled a small stone monument over the big guy's grave.

The tapered granite block, 10 feet high and about 30 inches square at the base, bore an etching of crossed bats and a baseball, with this simple inscription:

Joe McCarthy took time off from the bitter American league pennant race to unveil the stone. Joe managed the Cubs when Hack was the star of the Chicago National league team—and spending the big money like water.

Also there were the not-so-famous men who played with the kid from the western Pennsylvania mines when he was just getting his start in the Blue Ridge league.

Hack died last November 23 in Baltimore, with hardly a penny. His record of 56 homers in 1930 still stands as a National league record, and his 190 runs batted in the same year remains tops in both big leagues.

CHINA, RUSSIA NEAR UN CLASH

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 28 (AP)

Nationalist China and Communist Russia headed for their first open clash in the United Nations today on charges that Russia was a threat to peace.

Cancellation moves were afoot in the old, nagging Greek-Balkans conflict and on the Communist menace to Korea.

But China carried to the assembly's 14-nation steering committee her demand that the whole 59-nation assembly weigh the Chinese charges filed against Russia.

Calm little T. F. Tsiang, the chief delegate of the Canton government to the United Nations, had a full file of charges to throw across the table at Russia but indicated he would hold up on specific details at the committee hearing.

His insistence was to get it on the discussion schedule and he had, Chinese sources said, United States and British support for that maneuver. The United States and Britain generally take the stand that any question of wide interest should have a chance to be heard.

Opposing Tsiang in the battle of the huge land mass nations was red-faced, excitable Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Russia's foreign minister.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Sept. 28 (AP)—A glum-looking Casey Stengel had just received word that he and Ralph Houk and Cliff Mapes had been fined for Monday's rubebarb at the Stadium—a Grievous error somebody called it. . . . "I didn't see the play at all," Casey confided hoarsely, "I was back in the runway when somebody told me there was something going on out there. . . . Then they fine me for coming out to see what had happened. . . . It was the first time I was fined this season—and we've only had one man put out of a game. What do they expect me to do?"

A photographer asked the Yankee manager and the two players to pose studying pictures of the disputed play and Casey assented grudgingly. . . . "It won't get that run back," he maintained. "And I wouldn't settle for another run from the same club. It would take a lot to make up for that one. . . . Tommy Henrich came along for a look at the photos and insisted Houk had blocked the plate against Johnny Pesky's slide. . . . There's only one player who could have slid under that glove," Tommy argued, "and he's a Yankee—mole."

Also there were the not-so-famous men who played with the kid from the western Pennsylvania mines when he was just getting his start in the Blue Ridge league.

GREEN TERRORS HAVE STAR IN JOE GIANNELLI

Joe Giannelli, 155-pound back, will be a marked man Saturday afternoon when the Gettysburg college gridders engage Western Maryland college on Memorial Field in the first home game of the season.

Giannelli was a one-man show for the Green Terrors, who easily defeated Dickinson last Saturday at Carlisle 27-7.

The speedy back scored three touchdowns on runs of 81 and 37 yards, and a two-yard plunge, passed 20 yards for the fourth Terror touchdown and booted three placekicks for extra points.

However, the Bullets will not concentrate entirely on halting Giannelli, fully realizing Coach Charley Havens has some pretty capable ball-toters in Lathroum, Tullai, Colorado and Tereshinski.

Bullet scouts at the Terror-Dickinson game were impressed with the general all-around work of the victors. Western Maryland will outweight the Bullets by a goodly margin, five of six of the scheduled starters weighing over 200 pounds.

Although several of the Bullet players who received minor injuries in the Lebanon Valley tilt are taking it easy in workouts, most are expected to be ready for full time action by game time Saturday.

Saturday's contest, which will get underway at 2 o'clock, is expected to draw a large crowd, practically the entire Terror student body planning to follow the team here.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
LIVE UNREBELLIOUSLY

I got the topic for this talk from a sentence written centuries ago by Marcus Aurelius. Here it is: "Live life out unrebelleously in perfect peace, though the whole world bawl its wishes at you, yes though wild beasts tear limb by limb this material management of flesh."

We all know of people who seem to be in constant rebellion against "the world, the flesh and the devil." Nothing is right. Even no one is right! They even curse themselves. They know no peace. They are alien to all relaxation and rest. They have neither plan nor purpose—except to cause confusion and unhappiness to others.

What a contrast is such a one to a person like Marcus Aurelius, who gained peace and contentment merely by jotting down thoughts—golden thoughts—just for his own profit and peace. We can keep banking enjoyment for the darker days simply by living unrebelleously from day to day—a day at a time—conserving both our mental and spiritual forces for the later emergencies of life.

Perhaps the greatest art of living can be learned and gained merely by taking things and events in their order of occurrence and making no complaints. Don Blanding, the inspiring vagabond poet, who has immortalized Hawaii and the American open expanse, had this sentence, in initials, cut in his log fireplace: "Lord I Do Thank Thee For The Abundance That Is Mine." If more of us took that line as a daily prayer of thanksgiving, we would live happier and more useful lives.

I like this line that I lodged in my mind long years ago, and which I got from somewhere: "Work as though you were to live forever; live as though you were to die tomorrow." Yes, so much to do, and yet so much to learn! Knowledge is inexhaustible. Who among us can say that he knows all about the construction of a single blade of grass?

If we are alert, and ever watchful, we shall have no time for rebellious thoughts or acts. We may then see beauty to every shadow, and the splendor of life in every drop of rain or dew-fall!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Tiny Seeds—Plus."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

HUMBLE AND GREAT
The humble people toil for bread
And fire and sheltering wall,
For doll and bicycle and sled,
To please their children small.
No father, so hard-pressed, but seems
To have a college in his dreams.

Great man, within that costly coat
Which proudly you display,
Those differences the world may note,
At night are put away.
The toiler, sleeping night long through,
At rest, may richer be than you.

And if his son to worth should rise
And yours should miss the way,
Not all the joy your money buys
Could such a loss repay.
His boy triumphant—contrast grim—
With all your wealth you'd envy him!

Have 'Foolproof' Device To End Grade Crossing Mishaps

Harrisburg, Sept. 28 (AP)—A "foolproof" device to eliminate railroad grade crossing accidents may be on the market soon.

Three Schuylkill county inventors demonstrated a magnetic eye attachment for vehicles here yesterday to state, railroad and insurance officials.

The attachment, with the aid of a device at the crossing, would register the approach of a train, stop the motor vehicle, turn off its motor and keep it halted until the train passes.

The magnetic eye is the result of 19 years of putting around a hobby shop by Alfred M. Peiffer, 41, of Schuylkill Haven; Harold C. Roeder, 41, Summit Station, and Oscar Funk, 57, Pine Grove.

Here's the way the co-inventors explained its operation: Magnetic coils would be placed at intervals in the roadbed of highways approaching grade crossings by either the railroads or the state highways department. The coils would be tied in with the crossing's blinker signal system.

A magnetic impulse would be set off by the coils as a train approaches, relaying the signal to the magnetic eye in the vehicle. The eye mechanism would stop the car.

The device could be installed in all motor vehicles—particularly buses and gasoline trucks—at a cost of about $12 to $15 each.

"We've worked 19 years on this project and we think it's foolproof," Roeder said. "If the equipment was installed at every grade crossing in the country and if every automobile had our magnetic eye, grade crossing accidents would go down to zero."

The invention is patented and the inventors say it's ready for the market. Yesterday's demonstration was the first of a series, they added.

Czechs Confiscate U. S. Service Bulletin

Prague, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Czechoslovak government confiscated the U. S. Information Service's daily bulletin distributed here today, claiming that it contained an "insult" to Russia.

The alleged insult, the Czechs said, contained in the bulletin's reprint of a New York Times editorial which suggested that German scientists had helped the Russians in discovering the secret of the atomic bomb.

Joseph Kolarek, press attache of the U. S. Embassy who is in charge of the bulletin, said Czech authorities told him they objected to the following sentence in the editorial reprinted from the Times:

"Glidden Tour"

Col. Augustus Post

St. Louis in 1904 made this city the logical choice for the end of the first tour, according to Col. Post.

He recalled how the pilot car went out each morning ahead of the other automobiles and laid a paper trail for the latter to follow. Roads were not marked then.

"So successful was the 1904 tour that the 1905 tour was arranged from New York city to the White Mountains, and in 1906 the tour went to Montreal and Quebec and returned by way of Maine.

Col. Post thinks that one circumstance connected with the 1906 tour was responsible, in large measure, for the later development of automobile camping.

Ran First N. Y. Garage

"Abercrombie and Fitch, the famous New York city sporting goods store, set up a literal tent city in the Maine woods to greet the Glidden tourists of 1906 on their return from Montreal and Quebec," he said.

"They provided barbecue and entertainment, and the idea thus started people going on auto camping trips."

Col. Post bought the first automobile in New York city in 1903, and has several other "firsts" to his credit. He ran the first garage, in the lower part of the old St. Nicholas rink in New York city, and the first bus line, from the Waldorf hotel to the race track at Brighton Beach, competing with the horse-drawn "carriages" of that day.

Has Colorful History

He is a member of the "Early Birds," an organization of airmen who flew airplanes prior to 1916, and has written several volumes on aviation.

As a pioneer balloonist, he took part in free balloon races. On one of his balloon flights he landed in the wilds of Canada and had to spend two weeks finding his way back to civilization. On another flight in Germany his balloon dropped 5,000 feet and went through the roof of a house.

U.S. MAY SHARE IN DEVELOPING ATOMIC ENERGY

By JACK BELL
Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Lawmakers heard today that British and Canadian scientists may be invited to join in atomic energy developments in this country.
Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told a reporter he has asked for legal advice on whether any such arrangement can be made. He wants to know whether it would violate terms of the Atomic Energy Act, which he and others contend bans exchange of A-bomb information with any other country.
Another committee member, who asked not to be quoted by name, said it is his belief that British and Canadian experts could be taken into the American project without any change in the law.
This senator said he would not be surprised if some such proposal were made as a result of American-British-Canadian atomic talks which James E. Webb, under-secretary of State, has said probably will be put on a continuing basis.
Hickenlooper said he has no basic objection to bringing British and Canadian scientists into the American set-up, so long as they are properly screened.

The senator made it plain, however, that he doesn't subscribe to any full partnership arrangement under which the British would be given the complete know-how and would go ahead with bomb manufacture in their country.

"In view of Russia's claim that she has the bomb, we have more responsibility than ever before to keep atomic developments entirely under our control," he said.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn.) of the Senate-House atomic committee said he doubts that Congress will be called upon to consider at this session any change in the law.

He added, however, that he expects the Russian atomic developments to have "considerable influence" on the course of American-British-Canadian talks.

BRITAIN'S ILLS LAID TO EXCESS OF POPULATION

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Coincident with the Anglo-American conference in Washington to devise ways of relieving Britain's economic crisis, along comes the Population Reference Bureau, a private research agency in the capital, and tosses this bomb-shell:
Britain has 15,000,000 too many people to support. No other country in the world is so crowded as the United Kingdom, with the exception of Japan. John Bull's crisis will continue so long as he tries to support so many folk on so few acres. Bureau experts advocate spreading this excess population over the Commonwealth.

Imports 60 Per Cent

And what's the answer to this startling estimate of the situation? Well, it's true that the United Kingdom has an area of only 94,279 square miles on which to support a population of 50,000,000. Nine of America's 48 states are bigger than the United Kingdom.

England is a sweet country with its lovely flower-gardens and green lawns and endless miles of hedges. However, the fact remains that she can't begin to provide food for her big population and has to import some 60 per cent of her foodstuffs.

This was harshly impressed on her in the two world wars when she ran short of rations because of enemy blockades.

Quite likely that had something to do with causing a heavy emigration of Britons to the dominions right after the late war. However, part of the exodus was due to the fact that British soldiers had seen fresh opportunities while they were overseas, and were moved by the spirit of adventure to emigrate.

Might Check Skilled Labor

During 1946-7 there was a total of 291,000 British emigrants who sought new homes. From January to September of 1948 (the latest figure available) there were 116,000 more.

The British government has studied this question of emigration, and while it isn't blocking departure from the home land, all the indications are that it doesn't believe heavy emigration is for the good of the country. It's position was summed up in a recent royal commission report which said that the government didn't hold anything in the way of emigration but should there be a big migration of skilled labor the government would have to consider placing restrictions on it.

The government takes the position that Britain's economic troubles can't be solved by heavy migration. It holds that there is no unemployment but that there is useful work

431 Convicted On Fraudulent Claims

Harrisburg, Sept. 28 (AP)—Some 431 persons who received $28,300 in fraudulent unemployment benefits were convicted in the first eight months of this year.

The State Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation said 72 persons convicted in June, July and August were subject to a new penalty barring them from benefits for a year following the conviction. This is in addition to fines up to $500 and up to three years in prison.

Director A. J. Caruso said the state operates a continuous claims checking program and makes a full investigation where there is any indication of irregularity.

Total benefits paid out during the eight months period were nearly $78,000,000.

GOVERNMENT WORKERS' PAY MAY BE RAISED

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)
Britain's Socialist government is facing its greatest political crisis in the debate now waging in the House of Commons over the recent controversial devaluation of the pound sterling.

Actually the question of devaluation is incidental. It has been seized upon as a symbol of the devastating economic slough of despondency in which England is struggling.

The real point at issue is whether Britain's first experiment in Socialism government has measured up to its stewardship in handling the crisis.

Test of Socialism

In short Prime Minister Attlee's regime is called upon to justify its existence. And the outcome of the examination is a matter of moment far beyond the confines of Britain, for this government represents the world's most important test of moderate Socialism (as distinct from Communism and Bolshevism).

The main attack on the government comes from the Conservatives, led by Britain's famous war-time Prime Minister, Winston Churchill. There is weight in this assault, for Churchill is generally regarded as the savior of his country in the world conflict, and his views are received with respect.

Attlee lacks the colorful personality of his opponent. However, the Premier himself has achieved powerful leadership through team work and his reputation for sincerity.

Failed At Solution

The charge by his opposition isn't that the Socialists produced the crisis, since they inherited much economic grief when they took over as the war was closing, but that they have failed to solve it.

So the general attack is that the Socialists have been inefficient. Specifically it appears to be developing along three lines:

1. Why did you wait so long to inaugurate devaluation? If devaluation was the right move to make, it should have been made earlier.
2. Devaluation now has been forced largely because of wastefulness of the welfare state.
3. We know that you can't hold the line. Prices will go up and so will wages.

One concrete retort was given yesterday by Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer. He raised Britain's profits tax by one fifth—from 25 to 30 per cent—to offset the inflationary effect of cheapening the pound.

for all. It apparently feels that emigration of skilled labor would cause a heavy drop in productive power and thereby economic recovery.

So there you have the explanation of why Britain doesn't want to get rid of great numbers of her people—at least not at this juncture.

PLAN HOSPITAL WITH EXTERIOR OF ALUMINUM

Bradford, Pa., Sept. 28 (P)—Bradford, which proudly calls itself "the world," is to have a new honor.

It is to have the first hospital in the world with an all-aluminum exterior. The outer walls will be made of cast aluminum panels.

Work already has started on the new structure, to be known as the Northwestern Pennsylvania Medical Center. It will be a 200-bed five-story hospital, to cost about $1,800,000. Completion is promised by early 1951.

Exterior walls of the building will weigh only 40 pounds per square foot instead of the usual 120. No outside scaffolding, rigging or derricks will be needed for erecting the walls. The panels will be taken to each floor and installed from within.

No Maintenance Costs

The sponsors say the building's exterior will require no painting or other maintenance.

Windows in aluminum frames, will be protected from direct rays of the sun by aluminum shades.

Plans call for use of one-fourth inch thick aluminum, the largest of which will be 4 1/2 by six feet in size. The panels are to be backed with large panels of pre-cast light weight concrete four inches thick.

The aluminum castings will be made by Aluminum Company of America, which has constructed a "pilot plant" at its factory in Daventry, Iowa. The same type of castings will be used in the erection of a 30-story skyscraper Alcoa plans to build in Pittsburgh in 1950, 1951.

The University of Arizona football team under new Wildcat Head Coach Bob Winslow this season is using a straight T offense for the first time.

Yugoslavia Slaps Back At Hungary By Ordering Nine Diplomats Out Of Country

ACTION WIDENS RIFT BETWEEN TITO AND BLOC

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 28 (AP)—Yugoslavia slapped back at a one-time Communist partner last night by ordering nine Hungarian diplomats out of the country.

The action, widening the iron curtain rift between Premier Marshall Tito and the Russian bloc, followed by 24 hours Hungary's action in giving walking papers to 10 Yugoslav legation officials in Budapest.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, said Hungary obviously intended to "bring about severance of diplomatic relations between Yugoslavia and Hungary."

"Rattling Arms"

Meanwhile Marshall Tito in an address accused Russia and her Communist (Communist International Information Bureau) satellites of "rattling their arms" along the Yugoslav border. The Communist countries, said Tito, are "digging trenches in Hungary and Romania."

Just before Tito's speech, Yugoslavia's Foreign Minister—Edvard Kardelj told the United Nations assembly in New York that Russia is using all sorts of pressure—from economic blockade to armed demonstrations—to further "imperialistic" aims against his country.

A Tanjug broadcast heard in London said Yugoslavia had protested to the United States, Britain and Russia that Hungary has broken her peace treaty by cutting off the delivery of war reparations.

Not Identified

There was no immediate announcement of just which members of the Hungarian legation were ordered out of Yugoslavia.

In his speech yesterday Tito said Russia was trying to use the "old Roman principle of divide and rule" in her relations with her satellites.

Russia, said Tito, no longer was upholding the rights of small nations in the United Nations. This, the Marshal said, could be proved by "notes and threats" sent to Yugoslavia by Russia.

Tito spoke at a celebration of the eighth anniversary of the 1941 partisan uprising against the Nazis and Hungary.

GOVERNMENT OF GREAT BRITAIN FIGHTS FOR LIFE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Congress has approved a pay raise for most of the people in the armed services. Now it's in the midst of voting on a wage raise for government employees.

Not all people getting government pay. Just those in the executive branch of the government. And not all of them. Just these:

1. Postal employees. The House yesterday voted to raise them by as much as $150 to $450 a year, depending on grade and years of service. But they get no raise unless the Senate also approves.

2. White collar civil service workers making under $10,000 a year, such as clerks, stenographers, scientists, professional people, and so on. Average pay for people in this group is $3,352.

FAMILY DOCTOR HAS PROBLEM IN HOSPITAL CARE

Pittsburgh, Sept. 28 (AP)—Dr. A. A. Hines, newly elected president of the Pennsylvania Academy of General Practice, says one of the main problems facing a family doctor is getting hospital facilities for his patients.

The Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, physician told a press conference after his election yesterday that, in most hospitals, specialists have the priority on beds. The family doctor, he said, must treat his patients at home.

Dr. Hines said he has no quarrel with specialists but that he would like to see a more equitable arrangement so far as hospital beds are concerned.

"Eighty-five per cent of the ailments," Dr. Hines continued, "could be treated by physicians in general practice. But in many cases the patient tries to diagnose his own case and goes directly to the specialist."

Honor Two Women

Another group, the Pennsylvania Medical society, also holding its annual convention here, installed Dr. E. Roger Samuel of Mt. Carmel, a general practitioner, as its new president.

At the installation meeting, Dr. Samuel, a physician 36 years, told the association that compulsory national medical service is an "ogre." He said a husband and wife and all their unmarried children under 19 years old can get insured surgical and hospital treatment for $39.60 a year.

The society presented its annual Benjamin Ruth awards for 1949 to two women. These awards are for outstanding service in community health and welfare work. The individual plaque went to Mrs. Leonard D. Doggett of State College, while the award for organization work was presented to Mrs. H. Norris of Philadelphia, president of the emergency aid of Pennsylvania.

Southeast Conference football teams have played 43 games in seven different post-season bowls. Wally Butts has spent his entire ten years as a head football coach as the grid mentor at Georgia.

WINDSOR SHOE HOLDS PICNIC

Approximately 800 employees of the Windsor Shoe Company, Inc., their families and guests attended the annual employees' picnic celebration held at Big Pipe Creek park, near Taneytown, on Saturday. The festivities began with an address of welcome at 11:30 a. m. by Frank J. Krocak, vice president and general manager of the company, which is a subsidiary of the A. S. Beck Shoe corporation, New York city. Sandwiches and soft drinks were served at noon and at 1:30 p. m., games and contests were enjoyed. From 3 to 5 p. m., roller skating was enjoyed and from 4 to 6 p. m., there was dancing with Glenn Patterson's orchestra, Hanover, providing the music.

The following awards for the games and contests were presented on the dance floor by Mr. Krocak: softball game for men, $40 in cash, won by Robert Koonitz, Carroll Reed, Carroll Ooster, Glenn R. Zeigler, Dennis Wallick, George Marshall, Earl Welty, Joseph Myers, Oscar Mummert and Robert King; tug of war for women, $30 in cash, won by Pauline Hockensmith, Florence Study, Madalyn Haines, Romaine Snyder, Violet Stiles, Treva Shank, Helen Hagan and Lillie Petry; horseshoe pitching for men, $10 in cash, won by Clyde Beamer and Robert Gordon; balloon contest for boys, $5 in cash, won by Alpha Rimel, Jr., Ronald Markle and Gary Keefe; balloon contest for girls, $5 in cash, won by June Rimel, Phyllis Rimel and Audrey Orndorff; paper cup contest for women, $5 cash, won by Betty Barbieri, Maude Louise Wentz and Helena Orndorff; peanut scramble for boys, Larry Markle, $2.50 cash; peanut scramble for girls, Jean Luckenbaugh, $2.50 cash.

A special award, a table model radio, was received by Daniel Markle. The cash prizes were the personal contribution of Herbert C. Lee, vice president of the A. S. Beck shoe corporation. Each person attending received a souvenir program, the first page of which was a letter to the employees and friends of the company by Mr. Krocak.

Committees in charge of arrangements included: Paul R. Snyder, general chairman; Betty Arter, secretary; Frank J. Krocak, treasurer; grounds committee, Harry D. Scholl, chairman; Glenn R. Zeigler, and George DeHoff; food, Stanley R. Self Defense Claim Is Labeled As "Lie"

Dover, Del., Sept. 28 (AP)—The state's star witness, Mrs. Dolly Dean, testified Tuesday that 16-year-old Robert Brennan lied to the jury when he said he shot Wade N. Wooldridge in self defense.

Brennan, accused of the slaying of the 67-year-old Stone Mountain, Va., carpenter, testified Tuesday he shot and killed Wooldridge after the older man pulled a knife on him in an argument over Mrs. Dean.

The youth testified that Mrs. Dean, 26-year-old former housekeeper on the Brennan farm, threatened to tell his brother, Raymond, that she and Robert had illicit relations if he failed to get Wooldridge to leave.

Called to the stand in rebuttal, Mrs. Dean denied Wooldridge had "laid his hands on me" as Robert testified yesterday or that she had ever asked the youth to force Wooldridge to leave the farm.

DON'T EXPECT SUDDEN CHANGE IN TELEVISION

By JACK ADAMS

Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—The television hearings here mean that changes are in the making in this newest field of popular entertainment.

But don't expect anything to happen suddenly—or even anytime soon—as a result of the Federal Communications commission's latest study of the subject.

Television just now presents a package much too complex for any quick handling, by either government or industry. In other words, if you are thinking in terms of "color by Christmas," forget it.

Keep Present Sets

In all the legalistic discussion that will go on before the FCC during the next few weeks, the important thing to remember is this:

The television set you now have or may be thinking of buying from your local store will always be able to tune in just what it is tuning in now, until it wears out.

If the FCC makes the changes it is now considering, you can buy some gadgets for these present sets to get in on whatever may be added to the television system.

Three Top Topics

The hearings will deal principally with these three things:

1. More channels, designed to open local television outlets in more towns.
2. Revised engineering standards for the video broadcasters.
3. Color television.

Under the first heading, 42 new channels are proposed in the "ultra high frequencies," to be added to the present 12 channels in the "very high frequencies."

Proposals On Color

Most present sets are tuned for VHF only. If your town gets a UHF channel and you want to tune in on it, you will need a "converter." The experts think they can be produced at relatively low cost—say, $15 to $18.

Item two deals mainly with the technical question of how far apart video broadcasting towers should be located for improved reception.

In its probe into the final item, FCC will look over a half dozen proposals for color televising, to find out if any of them is ripe for regular operation.

Folding Doors Are Space Savers

The most difficult door problem likely to face the home planner occurs when a door is necessary and yet there is not enough space in which one may operate.

One solution to this problem which conforms to modern space-saving requirements is the accordion folding door. Accordion-type metal frames provide a durable foundation to which fabrics may be attached and at the same time permit a wide choice of materials for the interior-decorating scheme.

In remodeling homes it is frequently possible to install accordion-type doors where there is not sufficient space for the swing area required by the regular type door.

Bloomsburg, Pa., Sept. 28 (AP)—Galen Hanover and Freeman Hanover have two on the Bloomsburg fair futures to their credit. Galen, owned by L. T. Nottingham of Cape Charles, Va., won the two-year-old pace and the major share of a $10,683 purse yesterday in straight heats. Freeman accounted for the three-year-old trot and its purse of $9,931 by taking the first two of the three-mile heats.

church resumed their business session here today after pausing to celebrate their 150th anniversary.

Two business sessions and an evening worship service were on the day's agenda with addresses by Dr. Walter N. Roberts, president of Bonebrake seminary, and Dr. L. L. Baughman, superintendent of the Illinois Conference.

Last night, a historical pageant outlined the conference's growth for the past century and a half.

Pastoral assignments will be made at the conclusion of tomorrow's session.

MODERNIZATION HAS PROBLEMS

The modernization of an old house invariably presents perplexing problems to the layman. Altering or remodeling a building of any character is an undertaking in which the services of experienced architects, contractors and carpenters should be enlisted.

"Will cutting additional windows in an old house weaken the walls?" inquires a reader. He discovered after buying the property that the old pine flooring had begun to splinter, and that there were depressions in the floors in front of doorways. He wants to know further whether the floors can be repaired.

The answer to the first question is that cutting new windows in the walls will not necessarily weaken the structure. It depends largely upon just where the windows are to be placed and what structural members are affected.

Care should be exercised to see that no bracing members are cut or, if they are, that adequate substitute reinforcement is installed. Where studs are removed, bridging must be provided over the opening and additional studs installed at the sides of the opening to adequately carry the load.

If the worn floors are made of edge-grain boards, it may be possible to scrape and sandpaper them to a level and satisfactory finish.

If the flooring is of flat-grain boards, it would be better to have new floors laid. Advice should be sought from a competent carpenter.

Suggest Minimum For Dining Space

In "stream-lining" the American home from the many-roomed house of a few years ago to the compact, small dwelling now in popular demand, the dining room is one of the features which in many cases have been eliminated.

Taking the place of the dining room, the living room is now planned to serve for formal dining and the kitchen for informal repasts. Even for houses that retain the dining room plans generally include some arrangement in the kitchen for breakfasts and midnight snacks.

"We plan to have a dining alcove in the kitchen," writes one prospective builder. "What is the least amount of space that can be used and still allow for a convenient alcove?"

The answer depends on whether the table and chairs are to be portable or built-in. In the former type of dining alcove the minimum desirable size is 7 feet, 6 inches square.

For built-in furniture an area 4 feet 6 inches by 5 feet will suffice.

The car that likes to be compared!

PLYMOUTH

Great Value is built into every beautiful inch of the new Plymouth. For the positive proof—compare! Put this greatest Plymouth ever built up against the other cars—feature for feature, dollar for dollar, mile for mile!

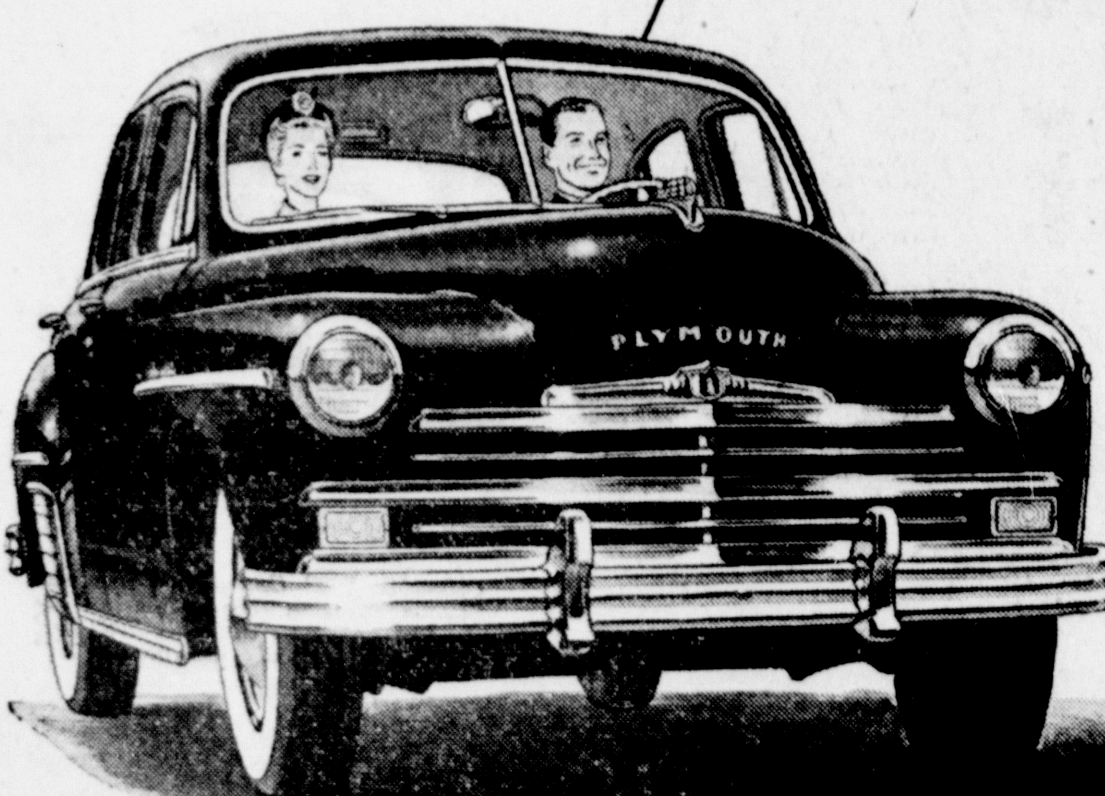

Look at all three of the leading low-priced cars. Plymouth—and only Plymouth—has the famous Air Pillow Ride—now smoother than ever.

The new, more powerful Plymouth engine has a compression ratio of 7 to 1—low-priced car "A" has 6.8 to 1—low-priced car "B" has 6.6 to 1. You get greater performance because Plymouth's higher compression squeezes more power out of every drop of gas.

Plymouth is the only low-priced car with the spectacular new double safety feature—Safety-Rim Wheels with Safe-Guard Hydraulic Brakes. Patented retaining humps hold the tire straight on the rim in the event of a blowout. Powerful brakes give quick, safe, accurate stops, without grabbing or biting.

These are just some of the reasons why the new Plymouth is the car that likes to be compared—not just to other low-priced cars—but even to cars costing hundreds of dollars more!

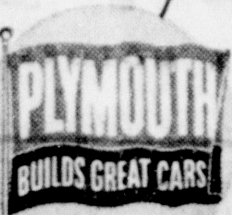

Visit your Plymouth dealer who will be glad to arrange a demonstration ride.

White sidewall tires, chrome wheel covers and rear fender scuff guards optional at extra cost.

Of 22 quality features found in high-priced cars—the new Plymouth has 21... low-priced car "A" has 13... low-priced car "B" has 4. That's why the Plymouth today—more than ever before—is the low-priced car most like high-priced cars!

Timely And Modern Suggestions Presented By Builders And Contractors

'The Bancroft' Is Compact House

To the family looking for an all-on-one-floor plan, yet anxious to avoid a rambling layout, the compactness and charm of "The Bancroft," the latest offering of Home of the Week Plan Service, offer a strong appeal.

This efficient dwelling, with its attached 11x14-foot garage, will nicely fit on a 65x100-foot lot. Its exterior of picturesque gray fieldstone and white painted shingles will give it distinction in any neighborhood.

Shelf For Books Or Plants.
The projecting bay window at the front of the house, which furnishes a 14-inch shelf within the living room to accommodate books or plants, balances the protruding central entrance with its Gothic-windowed Colonial door. A homey touch at the three-casement window on the opposite side of the entrance is a pleasingly designed window box. In the house pictured, the owners gave a color accent to the exterior through use of a gay yellow paint on the shutters and the front door. From the wrought-iron railed entry stoop, the visitor steps into a small hall with a coat closet directly ahead. Beside the closet a door closes off stairs to the second floor. There, a guest chamber and bath and a storage room (which might be made into another bedroom) have been planned, but these rooms may be finished off later.

For the average small family the Bancroft offers complete living accommodations on its first floor.

An 18x12-foot living room is reached through an archway from the front entry hall. The bright and cheery room, flooded with light from the wide recessed front window and an additional window on the side of the house, has as its principal feature a red brick fireplace topped by a Colonial white mantel with fluted pilasters. This is located in the long inside wall of the room, between an archway looking into the dining room and a door leading to a rear hall.

A Wide Picture Window
The dining room has windows in only one wall but these are adequate, consisting of a wide picture window pleasingly flanked by smaller single casements. Built-in corner china cabinets are useful as well as decorative accessories for this room.

A swinging door leads from the dining room to the kitchen. This room is small but efficiently planned. Measuring 10x9 feet, it has a double compartment sink placed under a double window looking out on the rear yard. An L-shaped, linoleum-covered counter runs from the sink around the corner and along the abutting wall to the refrigerator. Nearby stands the kitchen stove, with a broom and storage closet adjacent a step away from the rear entry door and the door to the dining room.

Between the stove and refrigerator in the kitchen is a door to the back hall. The rear hallway has a five-shelf linen closet and a smaller storage closet. Stairs to the basement descend from this hall, and it also gives access to the modern bathroom and to the two bedrooms on the first floor. The master bedroom, at the front of the house, measures 13x11 feet; the second bedroom, at the rear, measures 12.6 x 11 feet. Each of these rooms has cross ventilation and each contains an unusually spacious clothes closet. The cellar can be partitioned off to best suit the occupants' needs, being amply large to accommodate heating plant and laundry, and still leave space for a recreation room.

Hardwood floors are used throughout the house, except in kitchen and rear hall, which have linoleum flooring, and the bathrooms, which have tiled floors. Roof and wall insulation are recommended for this dwelling.

Complete plans and specifications for this "Home of the Week," or any other design of this series, are available at moderate cost. To ascertain the exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, The Gettysburg Times, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply.

Harrisburg, Sept. 28 (AP)—A Williamsport man was fined $35 and costs for buying seven cartons of untaxed cigarettes by mail from outside the state, the state Revenue Department reported. The man was identified as Fred S. Kaufman by Carl Tinstman, of the Bureau of Collection. State law makes possession of 200 or more untaxed cigarettes a misdemeanor. The state tax is four cents a package.

It's nice to give your children what they want and if you give them matches to play with, that's one of the surest ways to lose your home. Better hold the matches and line up with a good fire insurance company.

Says Radar Would Speed Map Making

Chicago, Sept. 28 (AP)—Many unmapped portions of the world could be mapped at a reasonable cost by the use of radar, an electronics expert said Tuesday. The expert was Richard C. Raymond, a consulting engineer and part time staff member of the Pennsylvania State college. He spoke before the National Electronics conference. An airborne radar set can be used to record position and elevation of points on the ground, Raymond said, in a way similar to surveying. Conversion of this data yields the raw material for contour mapping. Radar in a plane also has the advantage of speed in map making, Raymond emphasized. "This high speed mapping would reduce the cost of contour maps to such an extent that maps of many of the present unmapped regions of the world could be made at reasonable cost," he said.

Reading Aviatrix Claims New Mark

Reading, Pa., Sept. 28 (AP)—Just a day after she claimed a new altitude record for light planes, Mrs. Mildred Zimmerman, 27-year-old Reading housewife, soared to an official new mark of 26,400 feet. Instruments in the plane she used Monday were flown to Washington for official confirmation of her record claim by the National Aeronautics association. Sunday Mrs. Zimmerman took her PA-11 to a height of 26,200 feet. The present record-holder is Betty Skelton, of Tampa, Fla., who Mrs. Charles Gillelan, East Main street. Louis Pepler and Mrs. Johnson Staples, of Baltimore, recently visited Mrs. Walter Pepler and Mrs. A. B. Patterson, West Main street. Mrs. Louis Rosensteel, East Main street, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brown, of Lantz, Md., on Sunday.

"POINT FOUR" IS RECEIVING LOT OF NOTICE

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Sept. 28 (AP)—Bareheaded on bright, cold Jan. 20, President Truman stood on the temporary wooden stand at the capitol and delivered his inaugural address, beginning his full, four-year term. In that address he outlined four roads down which he thought the U.S. should travel in its international relations in the years ahead. He listed them as four points in this country's foreign program:
1. We should continue to stick by the United Nations. This the U.S. is doing.
"Bold New Program"
2. We should continue our programs for world recovery. For example, the Marshall plan. Later this year Congress voted to continue the Marshall plan.
3. We should help strengthen friendly nations against fear of aggression. Congress has acted on that, too. It approved the Atlantic pact, linking us in a military alliance with Western Europe. And then it voted arms for our allies.
4. We must set out on a "bold new program for making the benefits of our scientific advances and our industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped areas." On this Congress has done nothing this year, is not expected to act before next year.
Ready To Help
But since that January day the "bold new program" has been known as "point four." It has received a lot of attention. And Mr. Truman and his advisers have been pushing for it. They think point four should be carried out in two main ways:
1. By investing American money—meaning American businessmen in—vesting their money—in backward areas to help build them up. When businessmen invested their money that way it would be understood they'd be investing to make a profit. 2. By technical and scientific help. For example, American engineers would be sent into the backward areas to teach the people there some of the skills which have made this country so advanced industrially.

No Action Likely Now
Mr. Truman's advisers have sent two bills to Congress to get approval on those two main plans for carrying out point four: Under No. 1, Congress would guarantee that American businessmen would get some protection on the money they invested in the backward places. For example, a guarantee that this country would protect them against loss if their investments were seized. Under No. 2, Congress is asked to vote $45,000,000,000 to cover the expenses of getting the technical part of the program under way. For example, the expense of sending engineers, scientists or economic advisers into the backward places. Because Congress is so close to finishing up its work for 1949—or all the work it wishes to finish before going home—no action is likely.

Mrs. LeRoy W. Berwager was the leader at a largely attended Christian Endeavor meeting in Christ Reformed church on Sunday evening. Glenn Unger conducted the song service with Fred Warner serving as the pianist. Scripture was read by Mrs. Bernard Dutterer and the leader offered the evening prayer. A reading, "The World Is Mine," was presented by Shirley Warner. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Harold O. Sentz with Mrs. LeRoy Berwager as accompanist. "Religion in Schools Today" was discussed by the Sunday school superintendent, Harry E. Bair. A business session was conducted by the president, Mervin K. Myers, and Miss Ruth Sterner presented the secretary's report. The topic next Sunday evening will be "Keeping Ourselves Fit" and the leader will be Mrs. Irvin Markle. Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Hawk, daughters, Dolores and Sandra, East King street, and Richard A. Little, Jr., Maple avenue, spent Sunday at West Chester State Teachers' college, where they visited the former's daughter, Shirley, who is a student at the college. They also visited Mr. Hawk's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Atville C. Hawk, Drexel Hill. Harvard has fielded a varsity football team since 1874. Since 1934, seven Southeastern Conference football teams have recorded undefeated, untied seasons—three Alabama and three Tennessee squads, and the 1946 Georgia team.
